Thank you for taking the time to consider supporting Cardiff and Vale University Health Board by leaving a gift in your Will.

Each year, monies received from gifts in Wills donations supports research and development, improvements to patient services and environments and staff wellbeing projects, which helps make a significant difference to patients and staff.

What is a Gift in Will?

A legacy is any gift (monetary or assets) left in a person's Will; an instruction for part of your estate to be given to an individual or organisation after your death.

Leaving a gift in your Will, be that a percentage of your estate, a lump sum, shares or a valuable item, is a generous way of helping make a difference to patient care.

After providing for loved ones, we would like to ask you to consider leaving a gift in your Will. Together we can create a lasting legacy.

Types of Gifts

Residuary Gift

This is what is left of your estate when debts, taxes and other gifts have been paid.

Pecuniary Gift

This is a gift of a specified amount of money.

Specific Gift

This is a particular item or collection of items, e.g. a piece of art.

Living Well, Caring Well, Working Together

Cardiff and Vale University Health Board is one of the largest NHS organisations in Europe. It supports the local communities of Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan with a wide range of health and wellbeing services including: primary and community-based services; acute services provided at the University Hospital of Wales and University Hospital Llandough, plus Noah's Ark Children's Hospital for Wales; public health and tertiary centres.

The Health Board's mission is "Living Well, Caring Well, Working Together", and its vision is that a person's ability to lead a healthy life should be the same wherever they live and whoever they are.

History of Cardiff & Vale Health Charity

Cardiff & Vale Health Charity is the official Charity of Cardiff and Vale University Health Board.

Established in 1996, the Health Charity originated from a collection of funds raised by clinical teams and generous public donations, and has developed into a much-loved, award winning Charity with its own identity and ambitions.

The Charity works alongside the Health Board, managing the day to day administration of over 300 charitable funds; supporting research, treatment, patient care, equipment, projects and activities, to enhance the services provided by NHS funds.

Why leave a gift in my Will to Cardiff and Vale University Health Board

The NHS is available on demand to provide healthcare services to the whole of Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan and receives its budget from Welsh Government.

The Health Charity supports the Health Board by helping to raise additional funds, and receive and manage donations. It works in partnership with fund holders in clinical areas and other departments to prioritise the use of charitable funds.

No matter how large or small, your gift in Will donation can make a significant difference to patients and staff. After you've taken care of the people closest to you, making a donation in your Will could help in so many ways. Some examples are:

Funding patient activities and wellbeing sessions

Supporting research and development studies

Improvements to environments for patients and staff

What happens to my money if I leave a gift in my Will to Cardiff and Vale University Health Board?

When you leave a gift in your Will, you can choose to make a general donation to the Health Board so that clinical staff can decide where it's needed most; or support a service or department which you and your loved ones have personal experience of.

Including a gift in your Will requires no immediate financial commitment, however your kind and generous donation will be a part of your legacy to help others in the future.
